Good evening, you are warmly welcomed by Dariusz Lawenda – WITH A HINT OF LAVENDER. You are listening to New Radio. The protagonist of today's programme is a Poznań resident who went to extremes in ending the relationship with her partner...

Curious what happened next?

Well, you won't come across this broadcast on any other radio station.

To listen to it you just need to go to the theatre and get to know this protagonist in person.

Małgośka has just come out of a turbulent acquaintance and tells her tragicomic story in the songs that follow.

Love doesn't choose...?

This evening Małgośka has a chance to change back this saying, although it won't be easy, because she is still haunted by the question: 'What will happen to me?'.

Małgorzata Walenda, the winner of Grand Prix of the 21st edition of the LET'S REMEMBER OSIECKA FESTIVAL, encourages us to search together for answers and she knows one thing for sure: she is closest to herself while singing. And although she is afraid who she may be in the future, she wants to flow into it on the wave of excellent music in interesting arrangements – together with the New Theatre audience.

Come on in!
